THE HISTORY OF LINCOLN'S SECOND NOMINATION.

The New York Sun has printed forty-two letters written by prominent republicans after the second nomination of Lincoln in 1864. These letters are of special interest now because they show the state of mind of some of the foremost republicans of that day, and they also show how small in value was the judgment of some of the party leaders at that time.

The national republican convention met at Baltimore on the 7th of June, 1864, and the re-nomination of Lincoln was made unanimous, except on the first ballot, Missouri cast its vote for general Grant. A few dissatisfied republicans put in nomination General Fremont at Cleveland, and Salmon P. Chase, who wanted the nomination in 1864, was making all the trouble possible by leading in the movement against President Lincoln; and others whose sympathies were with Chase, were Horace Greeley, Henry Winter Davis, D. S. Dickinson, I. W. Shaffer, Richard Smith of the Cincinnati Gazette, C. B. Sedgwick of New York, Amasa Walker, L. Robinson of New York, General Benjamin F. Butler, John Jay of Rhode Island, Thomas Williams of Pennsylvania, J. S. Prentiss of Delaware, N. McBride of Morris, Illinois, Charles Sumner, Emil Prentiss of St. Louis, Whitelaw Read of the Cincinnati Gazette, J. A. Willard of Troy, N. Y., John A. Andrews of Massachusetts, N. G. Upham of Concord, N. H., David Dudley Field. Letters were received also from Roscoe Conkling of Utica, N. Y., and J. Collamer of Vermont.

It is worth while to note the spirit and the tone of some of these forty-two letters. They show how unreliable were these "leaders" in the dark hours of 1864. Greeley, who wanted to fight the war to suit his own peculiar notions wrote: "Mr. Lincoln is already beaten; he can not be elected and we must have another ticket to save us from utter overthrow. If we had such a ticket as could be made by naming Grant, Butler, or Sherman for president, and Farragut for vice, we could make a fight yet." Robinson, of New York, wrote: "In my judgment McClellan will inevitable be the president unless Lincoln and Johnson are at once withdrawn and General Grant or General Dix nominated." Charles Sumner wrote under date of Sept. 1: "It may be that Mr. Lincoln will see that we shall be stronger and more united under another candidate, but if he does not see it so, our duty is none the less clear to unite in the opposition to the common enemy." Roscoe Conkling wrote two letters, one dated August 24, in which he refused to sign the call, and then on the 28th of August, he wrote the second letter in which he said: "You can all consult your convenience and ease in the prosecution of what you propose, I think, for we are dropping down stream with rapidity which will make your landing whether you paddle or not."

These were the whinnings of false prophets and the utterances of men who were moved either by prejudice or a failure to comprehend the true situation of affairs. The country has since learned that Greeley was an unfit man to dictate a policy for the government in its hours of darkness and doubt; and experience has shown that Salmon P. Chase was altogether wanting in the elements of leadership. The other members of the band of forty-two false prophets, were very largely influenced by the course of Greeley and Chase.

It is now refreshing to turn to the other side, and see how the common people trusted Lincoln, how the army placed its utmost confidence in him, and how all the leading generals anchored their faith in the president. When the campaign of 1864 opened in Illinois, the first meeting was held at Springfield, and thousands of republicans were there. Judge Doolittle, of that state, made the opening address, and his first words were: "I believe in the Lord God Almighty. After him I believe in and trust Abraham Lincoln." The response was simply overwhelming. The people shouted and roared and sang in manifesting their approval of the sentiment, and this was the sentiment of the loyal people of the north, and the soldiers who were fighting the battles for the Union.

Notwithstanding the croakings of these unwise and disappointed men, the people went on trusting in Abraham Lincoln, and the army pushed forward fighting battles and winning victories, and when the votes were counted Lincoln had a popular majority of nearly a half a million, and carried every state except Delaware, Kentucky, and New Jersey.

The New York Tribune attempts to excuse the writing of these forty-two letters, by saying that they were simply errors of judgment. It is well enough for the Tribune to come to the defense of the Greeley movement of 1864, but the history of the summer and fall of that year, clearly shows that the movement was born of something else than a mere lack of proper judgment. It was born of something of that spirit which in 1889 the people call mugwumpery.

It is hoped for the sake of good morals that Governor Nicholls, of Louisiana, and Governor Lowry, of Mississippi, will

A WESTERN TOWN BURNED

ELLENBURG, W. T., DEVASTATED BY FIRE.

Scores Rendered Homeless and All Badly Needed.—The Dubuque Accident.—The Casualty Record.

ELLENBURG, W. T., July 6.—Ten blocks of the best portion of this city are in ashes. Nearly one hundred families are homeless, and what was yesterday a thriving business center is now a mass of ashes and burning cinders. Owing to the excitement and confusion it is impossible to discover exactly how many original houses it is presumed that it was the result of yesterday's celebration as it was started soon after the inauguration of the display of fireworks in the evening. The flames started on the north side of the city about 10 o'clock in the evening, and with a very strong wind blowing from the northeast, the fire spread rapidly, and did nothing to check the rapid advance of the flames, which within an hour spread to the business center. Help was telegraphed for to the neighboring towns, but long before it could reach the scene the flames had literally wiped out the heart of the city and had commenced to spread among the residences on the south side. It was not until about 12 o'clock that help arrived for the fire had consumed that there were any signs of abatement, and it was nearly morning before the firemen returned nearly from their tireless efforts.

While it is impossible to form a close idea of the amount of loss, it is estimated that the sum will run up many hundreds of thousands of dollars. All of the leading business houses, the bank, the post office, the city hall, the Board of Trade building, Snipe & Co.'s bank—in fact, all of the business blocks on Pine and Pearl, and Third, Fourth, and Fifth streets—are consumed, excepting only the First National Bank building, Bloomer & O'Connor's dry goods house, H. Gotzke's boot and shoe store, the saloon, and one general store. The loss to the residence destroyed can not now be estimated, but it is known that over one hundred families are homeless, penniless, and with nothing left save the few scant clothes with which they escaped from the advancing flames. Help has been asked, and it is badly needed in caring for the homeless victims of the conflagration.

EXCURSIONISTS IN A WRECK.

One Man Killed, Others Wounded, and Several Injured Put to Hospital.

DENVER, Colo., July 6.—The following are the additional particulars of Tuesday night's wreck on the St. Paul, Chicago & Kansas City railroad just beyond the city limits and less than half a mile from the company's yards.

An excursion train was put on to run for a picnic held in a grove at Twin Springs, a pleasure resort seventeen miles from the city. The engine overtaxed the facilities of the train and passengers rode on top of the car, the platform, or whatever footing could be found. Over 5,000 people were transported.

As the train started for its last trip it ran head on into a freight train coming east, making an awful wreck. Both engines and several cars were piled up in a tangle mass of iron and wood. The engineer, a freshman of the freight train, jumped over and escaped with severe bruises, but the brakeman, William Garrigan, a resident of Farley, recently put in service, was instantly killed by a piece of board running through his body. He failed to notice the signal of the passenger train, which had been seen for thirty years without a scratch, was caught in the wreck and had his breast bone and several ribs broken. Will Simplot, a call boy on the passenger, received severe bruises. About 1,000 persons, men, women, and children, were forced to remain at Twin Springs over night, having no means to reach home.

There should be enough prohibition to suit this platform to suit the most ardent prohibitionists.

The giant diamond lately discovered in Cape Colony, and now at the Paris exposition, weighs 180 carats and is valued at $3,000,000. It is kept in a glass case by itself and guardians stand around it all day. At night it is placed in a big safe, which is similarly guarded all night. It is said to be of the first water, and as pure as the famous Regent in the French crown diamonds. It is for sale and some American who has more money than brains will probably buy it.

Mr. William J. Melvin, who was injured by the premature discharge of a cannon at Madison on the Fourth, died Friday afternoon. A curious coincidence is that Melvin was distinctly injured in the same manner on the 4th of July eighteen years ago, and who was removed to the same house that Melvin expired in, where he died next afternoon.

PUBLIC PROPERTY.

The Chicago Board Must Furnish Quotations to Everybody.

CHICAGO, July 6.—The Board of Trade was given a pretty hard rap this morning by Judges Tuley, Collins, and Horton, sitting together on the injunction case preventing the board from refusing to furnish the Western Union, Gold and Stock Ticker company, and other similar concerns the market quotations.

The board refused to furnish the quotations, and the companies interested backed up by the open board of trade and the bucket shops, secured an injunction against the board and the big concern was compelled to furnish the quotations. The attorneys sought to have the injunction dissolved.

The decision was rendered this morning, and the judges affirmed the motion to dissolve the injunction was denied. The market quotations, the decision said, were of such importance to the public that they could be considered public property, and that if the injunction was dissolved the tendency would be to create a monopoly in the big board.

WILL INVESTIGATE THE MINERS' TROUBLE.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 6.—The Governor has called on President Gould and Secretary Wines of the State board of public charities to investigate the causes of complaint and suffering among the miners in the northern Illinois districts. Mr. Wines will spend most of next week among the mines, and will return to Springfield on Friday. He will go to LaSalle and take the statement of all parties in interest who may appear. These gentlemen are not selected as arbitrators but merely to ascertain the facts with a view of bringing about an amicable adjustment and a resumption of work.

BROWN BRO'S.

FIFTY YEARS AGO.

THE GOLDEN WEDDING OF MR. AND MRS. A. B. CARPENTER.

The golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Carpenter, of Beloit, was celebrated last evening. More than four hundred invitations had been issued. It was the social event of the season at Beloit.

A good many people from abroad were present. During the reception hours of the afternoon and evening about three hundred friends of the venerable couple extended heartfelt congratulations.

The family consisting of five daughters, one son and eleven grandchildren were all present.

The company came into the hall and passed through the front parlor of the magnificent new residence where they were presented to the "bride and groom," thence to the dining room, where an elaborate supper was served, after which all spent a short time meeting friends and renewing acquaintances.

An orchestra rendered appropriate music for the occasion, the lawn was brilliantly illuminated with lanterns, and the whole house beautifully decorated and fragrant with flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. Carpenter were married at Troy, New York, fifty years ago last evening. Since an early day Mr. Carpenter has been prominently identified with the business enterprises of Beloit, and is well known throughout southern Wisconsin.

Mr. Carpenter was presented with a gold headed cane by fifty ladies of the city, and Mrs. Carpenter with an umbrella from fifty gentlemen.

Both the "bride and groom" still enjoy the best of health, and there is no apparent reason why they may not enjoy many more happy anniversaries.

COMPETING AGAINST TIME.

THE BROADHEAD FIREMEN PRACTICING WITH THE MACHINE.

The Broadhead fire department is having a little amusement as well as practice with the No. 1 engine. They "went against time" on the Fourth. The following Broadhead dispatch to the Milwaukee Sentinel explains: "The Broadhead fire department won a wager of $50 that it would have a stream on a certain building within four minutes after an alarm. The boys ran twenty-five rods from the engine house, laid 300 feet of hose, and threw water in one minute and forty-four seconds. In three minutes the water was thrown higher than any building in the city."

TWO MEN KILLED BY A TRAIN.

BALTIMORE, Md., July 6.—Two men supposed to be tramps were killed on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad at Carrollsville yesterday afternoon by the cargo express. The engineer stated that four men were walking on the track ahead of the train. He whistled to them, but the men did not seem to heed the signal, and before the train could be stopped, it had dashed over two of them, tearing and mangling them horribly.

Fire at Oskosh.

OSKOSH, Wis., July 6.—Fire broke out in the saw-mill of the Conlee Lumber company last evening and in ten minutes the entire structure was doomed. High winds prevailed and for a time it was thought the great lumber district in that portion of the city might be destroyed. The loss is estimated at $1,000. Over sixty men were employed in the mill. It will probably be rebuilt.

PERSIA'S MINISTER ANGRY.

THE SHAH'S REPRESENTATIVE GOING HOME.

American newspaper Wittiams Ament the Shah Too Much for His Temper —Washington Matters.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—Hadji Hasson Ghoooy Khan, the Persian minister to the United States, will shortly leave this country for Europe. In his interview with him he told a reporter that he would not consider that he had been driven out of the country by the unkind and ungenerous things which had been written about him and his sovereign in the American newspapers.

The Persian minister, pointing to a volume of clippings from the papers in regard to the Shah, opened the interview by asking whether "any minister can stay in this country longer after all these things are said about him and all the American citizens in Persia."

He added, "If tell you surely, though, that I cannot bear all these things to be said about my King, who in his heart has the kindness to favor the American minister and all the American citizens in Persia."

"When I arrived in this country I came by way of New York. I saw there the status of 'Liberty Enlightening the World' and the like. I have seen many things now. After being here nine months I go away as fast as I can, and like a prisoner escaping from his prison."

"Write that, for the purpose, and to say these things, I resign my position as Minister from Persia and speak as a private citizen of that country. As a Persian Minister I could not say this."

The Minister said he had no fault to find with the government or its officers, but throughout the interview he complained of the stories about him and his sovereign, which had been printed in the papers.

He then walked from the rear car, leaning on the arm of the commander of the United States steamer Dispatch, and was taken on board the vessel, which lay in mid-stream, on a bridge.

The older people enjoyed themselves in conversation and by watching the children in their variety of antics. The ladies of the Congregational church are to be congratulated on the success of their efforts last evening.
